THE LEAVING
SELINA! WHERE ARE YOU GOING?
My home is no longer my home. I no longer have a home.
DON'T YOU LEAVE, YOUNG LADY! AND IF YOU DO...
...WELL, DON'T THINK YOU CAN COME WALTZING BACK WHENEVER YOU CHOOSE!
SLAM
My mother is no longer my mother. I no longer have a mother.
SELINA! WHAT AM I SUPPOSED TO DO WITH THIS...THIS DEAD...CAT?!
I don't know where I will go, or how I will live.
What I do know is this...

IT'S GO TIME.

CATNIP

Dusk falls, and the fun begins.
BLOW THE WHISTLE ONCE IF WE'RE ALL CLEAR. BLOW IT TWICE IF WE NEED TO GET THE HELL OUT. GOT IT?
AS SOON AS MY LAPTOP IS CONNECTED, I'LL DISABLE THE ALARM.
I'LL TEXT ROSIE FROM THE COFFEE SHOP ONCE IT'S DONE.
ALL RIGHT, ROSIE. ON YOUR COUNT.
TICK TICK TICK
TICK TICK TICK

AIEEEEEEEE!
BLEET BLEET!
BLEEEEEEEET!
I hear a sound—a scream—that freezes my blood. Then someone blowing a whistle, over and over.
ROSIE?
ROSIE!
I hear whimpering, and for a second I think it's Rosie. But it's not. Or it is, but...

It's not just Rosie.
EEE!
